IN OUR CLIENTS' WORDS (as reported directly to KLAS)

Project Results

“The final agreement Innovative helped us negotiate with our vendor has been wonderful. We have referenced the agreement a couple of times with the vendor, and the vendor has been compliant with the agreement for the delivery of the equipment, support and training. Our vendor indicated that this was a harder negotiation than most, but they think we got one of the better deals they have ever done. We asked all of the right questions.”

“The only thing I would have done different is that I would have brought them in 18 months earlier. It is very unusual for me to rate a company this highly, but I was just thoroughly pleased and impressed with the work that they brought to the table and what they were willing to do to help us get the job done.”

“We were very pleased with the contract they helped us negotiate. They helped us save a lot of money off of our final contract. Their lead counsel and an associate came and spent a week on-site with ourselves and the vendor hammering through the contract language and terms, as well as price negotiations. Also, I had a very skilled technical officer with their company who worked with us on our 10-year total cost of ownership that we used to give our presentation to the board. It was just excellent.”

People and Knowledge

“The IHS people are smart and efficient. They have worked with some of the leaders in the country, so they have great experience helping people choose outpatient EMRs. They also know the impacts of the Stark Law. We were able to benefit from that experience and knowledge. We have a very good relationship with this vendor. They are probably the best healthcare consultants I have ever encountered.”

“Innovative’s knowledge of the industry from which we were purchasing was extremely valuable, as was their past experience with the particular vendor we negotiated with. Innovative had a strategy from which to negotiate with this vendor, which was very beneficial.”

“Innovative’s responsiveness was beyond what I have seen from other firms. They were really available for any and all questions about the process, and they were extremely responsive both by phone and email, even when they were on vacation.”

“The assistance we got from Innovative was extremely valuable. They had experience with other academic medical centers and were cognizant of things to look out for in the vendor agreement, so we did not lose any rights for the machine and for subsequent developments we did with the company. They were great from all aspects. They did a good job of keeping the negotiations going.”

“They came in and really took the time to get to know our organization. I thought that was very important. They met with each of our executives or key stakeholders in this process. They were very engaged with making the presentation to our board of commissioners. They performed very well at that level. The contract negotiations due to their legal arm were just exceptional.”

Tools and Methodology

“We found Innovative Health Strategies to be a very good firm for negotiating price and making sure we were protected as an organization. This went a long way with us. We felt comfortable with the technical side but they provided more of the business side.”

Relationship

“We have used Innovative Health Strategies for many years. They are so creative in understanding what we need, what our objectives are and how we do business so that we can put together business arrangements and contracts that match our needs. This is the combination of a law firm and a consultant. They serve many healthcare organizations across the country. We really rely on them.”
